

Global Projects and EPC

With over 25 years of experience in the field, our firm provides comprehensive legal services in international projects and EPC contracts to help clients achieve their objectives in global business. Our team has significant experience advising clients across various economic sectors, including renewable energy and the oil and gas industry, mining, the hospitality business, consumer goods, manufacturing, retail trade, media, telecommunications, technology, and finance.

International Projects

Our firm's specialists have extensive experience providing qualified legal services within various international projects under foreign law in countries across Africa, the Middle East, Pakistan, Mongolia, Vietnam, Hong Kong, Singapore, and other regions of the 'Global South'. We often join our clients' project teams on-site, allowing us to respond as effectively as possible to the project's needs and provide comprehensive support.

EPC Contracts

Our firm has substantial expertise in consulting on EPC contracts. We provide a full range of legal services at all stages of EPC projects, from the preparation and development of contract documents to supporting their execution and resolving any potential disputes.

Thanks to our deep knowledge in this area and extensive international experience, we help clients avoid typical risks associated with large-scale projects and achieve maximum efficiency in their implementation. Our specialists understand the specifics of the legislation in the countries where projects are carried out, enabling us to successfully address the challenges arising during operations in different legal systems.

We recognize the importance of each aspect of EPC projects and strive to provide our clients with comprehensive support, starting from initial consultation and strategic planning, through the development of contractual structures and project risk management, to protecting the client's interests during the acceptance of work and commissioning of the facility.

Project Finance

In our project finance specialization, our team offers clients comprehensive support and expert consultations on the most complex and large-scale financial projects. We have significant experience in supporting project finance transactions, including aircraft financing and private and public debt deals.

Our services cover the entire project lifecycle — from structuring to closing the deal, including drafting term sheets, transactional documents, conducting negotiations, and support during the implementation of financial agreements. This includes risk analysis and minimization, development of an effective mechanism for securing the debtor's obligations, as well as adapting financial instruments to the unique aspects of each project.

Sanctions Advice

We provide qualified legal services for analyzing and complying with international sanctions. Our task is to help clients fully operate in the current sanction environment, minimize risks, and develop strategies for effective business management under changing geopolitical conditions.

International Dispute Resolution

We offer assistance in resolving disputes arising from our clients' international business activities. Our team has experience in litigating cross-border disputes in multiple jurisdictions and can help clients navigate legal and regulatory issues. We work closely with clients to develop effective strategies that achieve their objectives while minimizing risks. Our services include corporate disputes, contract breaches, arbitration cases, and others.
